Camp Herman To Be Cone Recreation Center

In order to make the facilities at Camp Herman open to use by more people and to provide services to a larger percentage of Cone employees, Cone Memorial YMCA directors have announced that during the coming camping season the camp site will be operated as a recreational center and not a camp. This will be under the direction of Dale Roberts of the Y staff.

The decision, which provides for opening the recreational center to all Cone employees, was made last Tuesday night when the Cone Y board held its monthly meeting at White Oak Branch. The meeting was in the charge of E. L. Chambers, Cone Memorial YMCA president.

Under the new arrangement all company employees and their families will have access to the area for picnics, boating, fishing and may use the shuffle board courts, horseshoe pits and volleyball courts. No over-night accommodations or any meals will be provided, however.

Many details of operation are still in the hands of the Camp Herman Committee, headed by Cecil Elmore. More information will be available after the next monthly meeting.

Rev. G. N. Dulin

Employees Give To Red Cross

Cone Mills employees in the Greensboro plants and offices contributed $8,889.93 to the Red Cross during the week-long drive which closed last Monday. Those who have not donated and should desire to do so, may hand in contributions to their department heads throughout this month.

The plant making the largest contribution and the largest per capita contribution was Print Works with $412.77. Second, was Revolution Plannel Plant with $405.00 and third was Proximity with $177.06.

Scouts Celebrate First Anniversary

Special guests when West Hillsboro Girl Scout Troop 5 celebrated their First Anniversary, were Boy Scouts of Troop 464, who joined the girls for an evening of games, dancing and refreshments. The troop was first organized with eight members and now has 14 on roll. Among their projects during the past year were vases which each scout made for her mother. They are now working on waste paper baskets, studying child care, as well as working for their second class rank.

On roll are Linda Terrell, Jean Batton, Wilma Combs, Betty Jean Davis, Sandra Dixon, Thelma Hicks, Faye Hicks, June Carol Kimrey, Bernice Lamb, Dianna Rippy, Glenda Terrell, Judy Watts, Brenda Hicks, Nellie Gray Norton.

All girls in the West Hillsboro community between the ages of 10 through 14 are invited to join the troop. Meetings are held each Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at the West Hillsboro School.

Proximity Methodists Enter City-Wide Effort

Proximity Methodist Church will begin a week of evangelistic services Sunday, March 21. Rev. G. N. Dulin, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Spray, will do the preaching. The music will be under the direction of Jasper Jenkins. There will be special singing and good congregational singing.

The Proximity Church services will be held simultaneously with more than 20 other churches in the Greater Greensboro area taking part.

Services will be held at 11:00 on Sunday mornings and at 7:30 each evening. Rev. O. L. Brown is pastor.

St. Paul's Church Also Plans Revival

St. Paul's Methodist Church will participate in the Greater Greensboro Evangelistic Mission beginning at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and closing with the 7:30 service Friday, March 26. Rev. L. R. Loflin, Sandy Ridge, will deliver the sermons. Rev. James H. Trolinger is pastor.

L. E. Parr To Speak To Local Club

L. E. Parr, well-known Bible teacher of Bessemer, will speak to members of Proximity-Print Works Community Club next Tuesday night at 7:30 in the club room at Proximity Branch of Cone Memorial YMCA.

Hostesses will be Mrs. J. B. Gardner, Mrs. Fred Steele, Sr., Mrs. S. D. Royster and Mrs. W. E. Bryant.

FUTURE PROSPECTS . . .

In his letter to the stockholders of Cone Mills Corporation, dated March 1, 1954, President Herman Cone states concerning future prospects:

"The textile industry is today facing the most unfavorable market conditions since 1940. Many of the Company's plants are now and have been for some time operating on a curtailed basis. While the Company's current backlog of unfilled orders has increased within the last month, this backlog is considerably lower than a year ago. Present market prices reflect the lowest overall profit margins in more than ten years. Prices on some of the Company's products are below cost. Unless there is some improvement in present conditions it is anticipated that the net income of the Company from operations during 1954 will be substantially lower than in either 1952 or 1953."

Dr. John McNeill

World Traveler To Be At Buffalo

Dr. John McNeill, native of Glasgow, Scotland, preacher, author, musician and world traveler, will hold revival services at Buffalo Presbyterian Church, Sunday March 21 through Sunday, March 28. He will preach at the 11 o'clock morning services on both Sundays and at 7:30 each evening throughout the week. A special service is scheduled for Saturday evening, March 27. This will be a musical travelogue, "75,000 Miles Around the Round World."

Son of the late Rev. Duncan McNeill, evangelist, author, hymn writer, Dr. McNeill was an officer in the British Mercantile Marine Service during World War I. He has crossed the Atlantic many times and has sailed around the world. He has had many escapes from danger zones, and holds three medals for services rendered. Recognition of his scholastic attainments has come from several universities and colleges in the United States and overseas. He holds six doctorates, including those in the fields of Theology, philosophy, laws, literature and music.

Dr. McNeill plays his own compositions on the piano and the English concertina.

Carraway Plans Evangelism Week

Carraway Memorial Methodist Church is participating in the "Greater Greensboro Evangelistic Mission," of the Methodist Church. A very important phase of this mission is the revival that is to be held in the church during the week of March 21-28. The visiting evangelist is the Rev. L. F. Strader, pastor of Welch Memorial Methodist church in High Point. Mr. Strader is a former chaplain in the U. S. Army, and served in this capacity during World War II.

The services during the revival will be conducted each evening, Monday through Friday, and will close on Sunday. The public is cordially invited. The church choir and the male quartet will sing each evening.

In addition to these services, prayer meetings in about 30 different homes have been held. Also about 40 persons have been participating in the visitation evangelism program during the week of March 14.

Golf Tournament Entry Blanks Ready

Official entry blanks for the Golf Tournament will be out the first of the week. They may be obtained from Wade Jenkins, Proximity Plant; Will Marshburn, Revolution Plant; Norman Pinkerton, White Oak Plant; Leo Redmond, Print Works and Fay Gilbert, Cone Memorial Y.M.C.A.

Edna Supervisors To Study First Aid

First Aid and Safety classes for supervisors and all interested employees will begin at Edna Plant, Reidsville on Monday, April 5. Two groups will be formed, one meeting from 12:45 to 2:45 p. m. and one meeting from 3 to 5 p. m. Both groups will meet in the plant.

Franklyn Griffith, safety supervisor for the North Carolina Industrial Commission will be the instructor. Mr. Griffith is well-known in Cone plants for the safety meetings he holds each Fall and for first aid classes which he has taught in the past. He is well acquainted with industrial safety and production problems.

The classes at Edna will be open to all supervisors and employees in the plant. Persons wishing to take the course should register with their overseers or assistant overseers. S. L. Adams, personnel assistant, and Elizabeth Harviel, plant nurse, are making the necessary plans.

Cone employees have been saved from death because someone nearby had a knowledge of first aid. Every person, and particularly those with families, needs such knowledge and skill as he develops in the first aid course. Edna Plant employees, who already have an excellent safety record, expect their first aid training to help them continue to work and live safely both on and off the job.

Mrs. Vance Trollinger Presides Over Club

White Oak Community Club met Monday night, March 15 in the woman's social room of the Y. In the absence of Mrs. Otto Burnside, who is ill, the vice president, Mrs. Vance Trollinger, presided.

Mrs. L. C. Harris gave the devotional. After the business the group played bingo. Mrs. Ray Tugman was hostess.

Among those present were Mesdames W. S. Simpson, Bernice Wilkerson, Lola Belle Martindale, Carson Rhew, Frances Funderburk, Lowell Steele; Misses Beatrice Jones, and Mary Louise Wyrick.

Mother And Daughter Banquet March 27

Come one, come all to the mother and daughter banquet to be held at the Proximity "Y" Saturday, March 27 at 6:30 p.m. All ages are invited. Mothers, bring your daughters, daughters, bring your mother. If you have no daughter you may adopt one for the evening. Prizes will be given to the mother with the most daughters, the youngest daughter and the oldest daughter present. Call Mrs. Frances Funderburk at the "Y" for further information and reservations. The price is 85 cents per person.

Community Club

White Oak Community Club met for lunch last Wednesday at the White Oak Y. In the absence of the president, Mrs. William O. Leonard, Jr., Mrs. Frank Starling presided. Mrs. Frances Funderburk gave the devotional.

After the business, bingo was enjoyed by the group.

Distressing Signs

We are beholding more and more distressing signs of foreign-made textiles entering the United States. Advertisements of competitive foreign fabrics are appearing in our trade papers. Without going into details, it can be said without fear of contradiction that even with our present tariffs, United States' mills cannot compete satisfactorily with foreign producers on a great many fabrics. Costs in foreign countries are lower than ours, the major difference, of course, being wages paid.

Even without the growing trend in foreign competition, the textile business in the United States is very unsatisfactory at this time, both as to volume of fabrics purchased and as to prices.

Certainly, all elements should be fully conscious of the peril to one of our major industries in the United States by the encouragement of reduced tariffs or any other means which increase the amount of imports of textiles to this country. Too few in this country realize the extent to which other countries in the world have gone in protecting their local industry.

We are not unmindful of the fact that world peace is dependent to some extent at least on satisfactory world trade. However, we are emphatic in our feeling that the textile industry cannot and should not be sacrificed upon the altar of catch phrases for world peace.

We know of no time within the last quarter of a century that the import of foreign textiles to this country could be more damaging to the textile industry and our whole economy than now.

This is not a matter which just concerns those who own textile plants or manage them, but it affects the operators of machines and those who depend upon payrolls of plants to satisfactorily conduct their businesses.

We must all view with serious concern and alarm every indication toward greater imports of textiles to the United States.

Granite News

by Bertha S. Clayton

The Annual Christian Workers Training School held at Davis Street Methodist Church during the past week was attended by members of the various departments of Haw River Methodist Church.

Among those attending the school were Cleora Cates, Betty Sue Coble, Sandra Hughes, Peggy Allen, Ruby Montgomery, Gertrude Bueschel, Sybil Walters, Dorothy Collier, Ethel Bullard, Lucille Shue, Ida Aldridge, Pearl Lamb, Betty Pendergraph, Bertha Clayton, James Faucette, Reid Aldridge, and Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Goodwin.

The school was one of the best ever to be held in Alamance County and the churches of the county should benefit greatly by it.

Mr. Fletcher Brockwell died at his home on March 10 at the age of 75. Mr. Brockwell was a native of Orange County. He has lived in Haw River since 1916 and for many years was employed in the Tarbary Plant. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Bessie Ann Brockwell; a daughter, Mrs. W. M. Bowman of Haw River; and a grandson, Herman Bowman, who is employed in the Pickering Department, second shift.

Another new face has been added to the Finishing Department, third shift. Willard Abernathy, came to work during the past week. He has a brother, Brantley Abernathy, who is employed in the Dye Department.

Frankie Goodwin of Rougemont visited Rev. and Mrs. Goodwin for a few days during the past week. The Haw River Indians are continuing to add victories to their list. The last defeat to date was handed to Pleasant Garden on the past Wednesday evening, the score being 71-47. This was the first game of the Regional District Tournament held in Winston-Salem. Jerry Bosquet and Buddy Ray tallied for 19 points each. Jerry has scored nearly 500 points so far this year.

On March 12, the Indians will meet a strong team from Franklin. "All the way" is the cry in Haw River this year and it seems as if there is a good chance for it to be just that.

Barbara Ann Hughes spent the past weekend visiting with her grandmother, Mrs. Jack Poe of El land.

Lee Jones, a day student at Elon College and an employee in the Finishing Department, second shift, has had the pleasure of working on the first shift during his Spring Holidays. Lee has been taking in some ball games.
